

SALES OF FAYETTE LAND.—There have been several recent sales of land in the county of Fayette which deserve to be noticed.

On the 16th inst. Mr. John L. Wilcox sold his two farms, situated about five miles from Lexington, near the Harrodsburg Turnpike. One containing 170 acres, was sold at public sale to Mr. Wilson S. Hunt at $73.50 per acre; and the other (119 acres) at private sale to Mr. Edward Allen, at $80 per acre.

On the 18th inst. the farm owned jointly by Mr. John S. Kenney and his deceased brother, Wm. R. Kenney, was sold at public sale to Mr. James G. Kincaid at $95.10 per acre. This farm is situated about 9 miles from Lexington and about one mile from the Winchester Turnpike, and contains 170 acres.

Mr. David S. Sayre sold last week, at private sale, his farm situated between the Georgetown and Frankfort turnpikes, one mile and a half from the Court House, to Mr. Thomas Bradley, for $40,000. The farm contains 295 acres, and the price was $136.66 per acre.

In the county of Woodford, a few days ago, a farm of 120 acres, belonging to the estate of Adam Harper, deceased, was purchased by A. T. Acheson Alexander, Esq., at $125 per acre.

These sales denote anything else but a depreciation of the value of lands in the vicinity of the city of Lexington. —Lex. Observer.

STORING POTATOES FOR WINTER.—After maturity, the quality of the potato is not improved by remaining in the wet ground; and, to save them in the best condition requires some care in storing them through the winter. If put up in the ordinary manner practiced in the West, more care should be bestowed in protecting them from the wet, and in ventilating the heaps at the time of putting them up.

All vegetables, packed in masses, undergo a greater or less degree of fermentation, or, as it is usually termed, sweating; of course, heat is generated by this change, and a second growth is induced, which always impairs more or less the quality of the roots. The best method of ventilation is to insert tubes or chimneys, made of boards, six inches square, along the ridge of the piles six feet apart, let the tubes extend through the covering of the earth, six or eight inches below the top of the pile of potatoes. These tubes should be covered so as to keep out rain, and in cold weather, a quantity of hay or straw should be put loosely in them to guard against the frost.

HOW TO BREAK UP A COLD.—Dr. Hall, in his Medical Journal, gives the following directions for breaking up a cold: A bad cold, like measles and mumps, or other similar ailments, will run its course of about ten days in spite of what may be done for it, unless remedial means are employed within forty-eight hours of its inception. Many a useful life may be spared to be increasingly useful by cutting a cold short off in the following safe and simple manner. On the first day of taking a cold there is a very unpleasant sensation of chilliness. The moment you observe this, go to your room and stay there keep it at such a temperature as will entirely prevent this chilly feeling, even if it requires a hundred degrees Fahrenheit. In addition, put your feet in water, half limb (leg) deep, as hot as you can bear it, adding hotter water from time to time, for a quarter of an hour; so that the water shall be hotter when you take your feet out than when you put them in; then dry them thoroughly, and put on warm, thick woolen stockings, even if it be summer, when colds are the most dangerous; and for twenty-four hours eat not an atom of food, but drink as largely as you desire of any kind of warm tea, and at the end of that time, if not sooner, the cold will be effectually broken, without any medicine whatever.

TO PRESERVE EGGS.—Take one pound quick or stone lime and slack it in three gallons of water. Then add one pound of salt. Put the eggs in when the mixture is cold. Look to it frequently to ascertain if the top is incrustured with lime. If not, slack a little more and add to it. A pork or wine barrel is best for the purpose. It is necessary to be particular that the shell of the eggs should not be cracked. If it is, the lime hardens the yolk, and renders it unfit for use.

T. E. C. BRINLEY & CO.,

Plow Manufacturers,

SIMPSONVILLE, KENTUCKY.

WOULD call special attention of the Farmers to the fact, that they now have ready made over ONE HUNDRED of their Improved Steel Plows for Sale.

It is well known that we have never been able heretofore to get our plows sold so fast as we now are, consequently we have enlarged our business in order to supply all we can. We are also putting an extra finish on our Plows to meet the demand for them, and our Plows are ground and polished, and painted with the best red lead, which is far superior to the paint commonly used. All those who think they will want our Plows, we hope they will send in their orders early, that they may be accommodated. We sell exclusively for CASH, and all orders sent will be promptly attended to. Our prices are as follows:

For No. 3, for three horses, $12.00

No. 2, for two horses, $10 and 11 00

No. 1, small Plow, 7 00

For Double Shovel, Steel, 5 00

Single Shovel, 7 00

For Cultivator, $7 and 8 00

We would just say to the farmers, we have a new Patent Cultivator, which excels any thing of the kind we have ever seen in Kentucky. In fact, it is the first one introduced in Kentucky of the kind. We would recommend it to the best Farmers of this county. Dr. H. H. HARRIS, to try it, and he says that it is the best thing of the kind he ever saw. Upon his judgment as well as our own, we recommend it.

HOTELS.

CENTRAL HOUSE.

THE undersigned, late proprietor of the "Danville House," has taken for a term of years, that large and commodious public house, so long known in all the South and West, as the "Central House," and having refitted and furnished the same, is now prepared to accommodate all, whether local or transient, persons who may favor him with a call. His long experience in the business of Hotel keeping, and his earnest desire to please all his guests, will, he hopes, justify him in saying, that at the "Central House" every thing will be found to render his guests comfortable and happy. Thankful to his old friends, and desiring to be assured that the same kindly welcome will greet them, and unceasing efforts made to please them. Intending to furnish the best of the country, his customers may always rely upon getting it, and at such prices as will regard as very reasonable. A liberal share of the public patronage then is desired, and the undersigned hopes it will be extended to him.
